

On the road to your career..

Congratulations! Embarking into a teaching career can be as exciting as a fun-filled drive down a coastal highway in a bright, red convertible. Teaching offers the joy that comes from being able to pave the road to new learning for students. Teaching brings reward in seeing students navigate new ideas and accelerate their skill levels.

Once inside the classroom, though, the key to maintaining momentum for students is found in shaping continued opportunities for personal learning. There's a need of time for collaborating and learning with colleagues, and a need for moments set aside for reflecting on professional practice and the progress of students. It's not a matter of learning every now and then. There's a need for "effective professional learning every day so that every student achieves". Before it seems as if you may run out of gas, know this: When it comes to professional learning, you won't need to map out the ride alone because...
